

Puppies Behind Bars Service Dogs for Those Who've Served Us®

Thank you for your interest in applying for a PBB service dog. The following pages include an application and reference forms, but we want to take a minute to tell you about PBB service dogs so you have a better understanding of who we are and, more importantly, who our dogs are.

First, if you get a PBB dog you will be getting the best service dog possible. We say this not to sound arrogant, but because of all the work, love, and socialization (more on this in a bit) we put into our dogs. By the time our dogs graduate as service dogs, we know there are none better.

All of our dogs are pure-bred Labrador retrievers and all our dogs are bred by us. This is important not only because it allows us to breed only the healthiest, most responsive, and most confident dogs in the country, but it allows us to begin socializing our puppies literally from the moment they are born.

“Socialization” means how many different kinds of experiences a dog is exposed to. Our dogs receive a minimum of 10,000 hours of socialization before they are placed as service dogs. This means they have been exposed to children, the elderly, cities, suburbs, and the countryside. They have all gone to kids’ soccer games and football matches. They’ve gone to churches and synagogues and other houses of worship. They’ve gone to dentist and doctor appointments, to restaurants, to movies, on long car trips and to the local mall. Our dogs have been exposed to so many different experiences and people that by the time we pair them with you, they have learned to take everything in stride – so you can as well. Our dogs will be the one looking out for your environment so you don’t have to.

And because all our dogs are raised in prison from the time they are eight weeks of age until they are paired with you, they have developed an empathy and responsiveness to people to a degree that, literally, we have never seen in any other dogs. Our dogs live in prison with their “puppy raisers,” who are generally people who feel vulnerable and who feel emotionally fragile. Our dogs learn to empathize with their puppy raisers, to comfort them when they are stressed, to curl up on their laps for the command “Tell me a Story,” to be by their sides 24/7. From this our dogs learn to love, respect, and protect their humans.

So that’s about our dogs: what about us and the training you will receive from us? If you get a PBB Service Dog for Those Who’ve Served Us®, you will also get PBB staff in your life. We have been working with veterans with PTSD since 2006. We understand what it is to isolate at home and only go to the grocery store with a family member or in the dead of night. We know what it’s like to go to a mall and scan. We know that you will want to sit with your back to a wall in a restaurant and be able to see an exit. We know you may have a panic attack in public; we know about triggers; we know about depression and fatigue. We will move into the hotel with you in upstate NY for the fourteen days of our “team training” so we are with you whenever you may need us. Our days are long, but they are also fun. We train together, we take our dogs to the woods to watch them play together, we go out to dinner together, we go on “field trips” together – and that’s just for the 14 days. Once you get home, we still have your back.

We are there 24/7 to answer any questions you may have. We are there to help you problem solve. If you need to go into in-patient treatment after you get one of our dogs, we will take the dog back and hold on to him if you cannot take the dog with you. If you are going on vacation and cannot take the dog (our dogs cannot go on cruises, for example), we will take the dog back while you are away. We will help you every step of the way because our goal, and our only real goal, is for you and your dog to succeed.

In the years of working with war veterans, we have seen the differences our dogs can make in someone’s life. Generally, our vets have hit rock bottom before they’ve come to us. They have generally tried self-medicating with alcohol and/or drugs; they have had families fall apart or threaten to; they have been prescribed more drugs to take on a daily basis than they are comfortable with; they have tried or thought about suicide. They are often at their wits end.

And then they get a Puppies Behind Bars service dog and for reasons that, to be honest, even we do not understand fully, their lives change. The dogs provide the confidence our vets need to re-engage with their families and the world. The dogs provide the unconditional trust and support that our vets need to go forward. And we are confident our dogs will provide this to you, our first responders, as well.

As a Manhattan-based non-profit, we were living and working in New York City on September 11th. We remember that day as though it were yesterday, and we remember the days and weeks and months and years since. We know how our city and our country changed as a result. We want to thank you for serving us. We want to thank you for keeping our city and country safe. We want to let you know that we feel we can do something to repay you for your service – and that something is to provide you with the best possible service dog there is, with the best possible training and follow-up commitment we can give.

If you have any questions as you fill out the attached application, let us know. Shoot us an email or give us a call. We are here to answer your questions and to help you in any ways we can.

Thank you for your interest in Puppies Behind Bars.

HOW TO APPLY FOR a Puppies Behind Bars “Service Dogs for Those Who’ve Served Us”®

Puppies Behind Bars will donate service dogs to first responders with PTSD, TBI, and/or mobility related disabilities. We have a maximum of twenty dogs to place per year. Puppies Behind Bars pays for 100% of the cost of placement, including transportation and lodging for training. Post-placement, all costs associated with caring for the dog will be the responsibility of the recipient.

To qualify for service dog:

- Be a first responder (police officer, firefighter, EMS worker, sanitation worker, search and rescue, etc.).
- Be able to provide a stable, safe environment for our dog, which includes love, daily exercise, medical care and food.
- Be willing to become more independent and to work with a highly trained four-legged companion.
- Be willing to take your service dog with you virtually everywhere you go and, at a minimum, agree the dog will not be left alone for any more than two hours a day.
- Be willing to exercise the dog off leash in an outside enclosed area or appropriate park for at least an hour every day, regardless of weather conditions. Puppies Behind Bars will work with you to set up a schedule with family, friends, or colleagues if you are not physically able to provide this exercise yourself.
- Be willing to participate in a 14-day “team training” in Chappaqua, NY. About half of team training classes will include working in prison with a small group of carefully selected inmate “puppy-raisers” within a security-supervised classroom that is separate from the general inmate population. “Puppy-raisers” will impart hands-on, professional knowledge to each recipient about his/her dog, and will provide detailed information regarding service dog handling and care. Inmate participants in team training are carefully screened by the correctional facility staff and PBB instructors, are closely monitored and evaluated, and are permitted to participate in PBB’s program based on meeting our extremely high standards for their performance and commitment to the well-being of our dogs and those we serve.

How to Apply:

- Fill out the questionnaire portion of the application and return it to the PBB office (the address is on the application).
- Submit two personal references (blank reference forms are included in this application). What we are looking for are character references. If you feel you cannot get two personal references because you have not told family or friends about your diagnosis, tell us and we will work with you on this.
- Submit a reference from your treating clinician.
- Include a copy of your proof of employment and a recent photo along with your application.

Application Process:

- Within two weeks, we will notify you upon receipt of application via email and will request any other documentation we need
- We will conduct an initial review of your application to determine your eligibility. If we decide to proceed with your application, we will contact you to schedule a video phone interview or an in-person interview.
- Within 4 to 6 weeks, we will inform you of our decision
- If you are declined, we will refer you to other organizations
- If you are selected, you will be placed in our next 14-day “team training”

What, ideally, would you like a dog to do for you? If you also have physical impairments, do you need a dog to open doors for you, pick up dropped objects, turn on and off lights, help you buy items in the supermarket? If no physical impairments, what do you want the dog to help you with?
26. If your application is accepted, you will attend a fourteen-day training class during which you will be paired and trained with a service dog specially chosen for you. Our classes take place in upstate New York and we visit a local state park for several hours each afternoon. Will hiking in a state park each day present too much difficulty for you? If so, there is a lake we can go to instead, where there is no walking involved, but our dogs can run, swim, and play - and provide us with the joy of watching them have so much fun. Please tell us if you will not be able to hike in the state park.

Please be as thorough and complete as possible when answering the following questions. These questions are designed to give us a better idea of which one of our dogs would best serve you. PBB is here to help you, not to pass judgment.

28. What were you like when you retired? Did you retire willingly or were you forced to retire?
29. Is there a specific incident you or your doctor can link your PTSD or anxiety to, or is it cumulative? Please be as descriptive as you are comfortable being.

Service Dogs for Those Who've Served Us® Agreement

Puppies Behind Bars (PBB) pays the costs associated with training the dog and matching the dog with a first responder. PBB will pay for travel and lodging expenses for the first responder to travel to the fourteen-day training where the participant and dog are trained to work together. PBB will also provide most of the meals, but on the nights when we do not go out to dinner together as well as nights you choose to either eat in your hotel room or go out with other participants, those costs will be yours. Please save and remit all receipts for gas if you choose to drive to "Team Training". Thirty days after receiving the receipts, PBB will reimburse gas and toll expenses. PBB will not reimburse incidentals such as food or beverages consumed in transit or cultural or entertainment expenses incurred during the fourteen days of training with the dog.

If, at any time and for any reason, you find that it is impossible to keep the dog you have received from PBB, you agree that you will contact PBB and will return the dog to the organization. You will neither sell nor give the dog to anyone, including a family member. PBB will make all arrangements to pick up the dog and no questions will be asked. PBB feels that the dog's happiness and health are of prime importance and will take back any dog whose quality of life is not of the highest standards, which includes that the dog maintains a healthy weight, receives proper veterinary care including monthly doses of Heartgard, Nextgard, and Frontline, one hour of off-leash outdoor exercise each day, and lives in the house and is not tied up outside or in a kennel. We will also take back the dog if you do not stay in touch with us, meaning that you do not return our calls, emails, texts, etc. Accordingly, by signing this agreement, you agree to abide by all of PBB's follow up and recertification policies and procedures.

PBB will retain ownership of the dog for the life of the dog to ensure that you are working well with the dog and the above standards are met. While we have no intention, or desire, to take a dog back, past experience has shown us, unfortunately, that sometimes it is unavoidable. PBB reserves the right to remove the dog from its placement at any time if one or more of the following situations exist:

1. The recipient is unable to properly care for the dog, as determined by PBB, including but not limited to the dog maintaining his or her placement weight.
2. The recipient becomes incarcerated or the recipient becomes hospitalized for an extensive period of time. It is up to the recipient to notify PBB of any incarceration or long-term treatment.
3. The dog is being neglected or abused, or not exercised.
4. The dog is no longer being used as a service dog by the recipient.
5. The recipient uses the service dog in a manner that violates the standards for service dogs established by PBB and Assistance Dogs International (ADI).
6. The dog and handler do not pass the annual Public Access Test administered by PBB.

PBB will make site visits when you are home with your dog after approximately three months and will test you and your dog once a year thereafter. You may have to travel to meet PBB instructors for your annual visits. You agree to do such travel and agree that you will comply with all these visits, as well all emails, texts and phone calls from PBB staff and instructors.

You also agree that PBB instructors may speak with your current health care provider and/or future health care providers throughout your dog's life. You understand that sometimes problems can be resolved by PBB asking your health care provider to intervene.
